

Samford University's department of religion invites applications and nominations for a tenure-track position in Old or New Testament.

Rank and salary will be commensurate with qualifications. The teaching load of three courses per semester will include the university's core curriculum course in biblical studies and other courses in the candidate's area of expertise. The successful applicant must have the Ph.D., demonstrated excellence in teaching and scholarly publication, and excellent interpersonal skills. They must also support Samford's Christian mission. In view of the school's Baptist heritage, preference will be given to Baptists. Baptists of all backgrounds are encouraged to apply.

For information on the department of religion, see <http://www.samford.edu/schools/artsci/religion/index.htm>.

Consideration of applications will begin on January 16, 2012, and continue until the position is filled. To ensure full consideration please send a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, and other supporting materials to Kenneth B. E. Roxburgh, Chair, Department of Religion, Samford University, 800 Lakeshore Drive, Birmingham, AL 35229-2251. E-mail inquiries only to kbroxbur@samford.edu.

Samford University is an Equal Opportunity Institution that complies with applicable law prohibiting discrimination in its educational and employment policies and does not unlawfully discriminate on the basis of race, color, sex, age, disability, veteran status, genetic information, or national or ethnic origin.