PHRX 459 Chemical Dependency in Health Care Professionals (2)

Through participation in class-directed activities, students will study the field of addiction and examine multiple aspects of the disease of chemical dependency. Emphasis will be directed at the impact of addiction on health care professionals. Offered: Fall or Spring.

PHRX 460 Research (2)

Applies literature and laboratory techniques, or other methods of scientific investigation, to pharmaceutical problems. Students choose to study and investigate a suitable problem with faculty in either department in the McWhorter School of Pharmacy. Prereqs: Completion of P2 Fall curriculum and a professional GPA of at least 2.50. Offered: Fall or Spring.

PHRX 461 Latin American Culture for Pharmacy Practice (2)

Introduction to Latin American culture in relation to the health care profession and a review of Spanish phrases, as well as understanding the social, emotional, and cultural needs of the Latin American patient population. Prereq: Completion of P1 Spring curriculum. Offered: Fall and Spring.

PHRX 462 Current Topics in Toxicology (2)

Covers common biologic, chemical, and drug poisonings. Learn signs and symptoms, mechanisms of action, and toxicokinetics of various toxicants. Highlights "state of the science" treatment modalities. Includes site visit to local poison control center. Prereqs: Completion of the P2 Spring curriculum or consent of course coordinator. Offered: Spring.

PHRX 470 Pharmacy and Healthcare in Great Britain (2)

Provides students with the opportunity to learn about the role of the pharmacist in the health care system of Great Britain. In addition to preparatory meetings at the McWhorter School of Pharmacy prior to the trip, the course requires international travel to the Samford University Study Centre in London, England (or other housing in London) and travel within Great Britain. It also involves local travel within London to multiple health care, cultural, and historical sites. Limited to a maximum of twenty (20) enrolled students and additional course fees apply. Prereqs: Completion of P2 Fall curriculum; professional GPA above 2.0; no active university values violations. Offered: Spring.
